A group of residents has obtained the dismantling of a phone masts site located on their roof. "Friday next week the whole installation will be in the boxes", explained yesterday – the first day of dismantling - Lola Pérez, the president of the group of co-owners of the Arcadia building, in the street of the Engineer of the Tower Acosta in Málaga.

The co-owners decided in February 2006 not to renew the contract with Vodafone of the 1st phone masts site in 1998 and they obtained a judgment, which gave them reason.

"The main reason is that a third antenna was installed and that 90 % of residents did not know about it. Moreover the syndic perceived only two rents".

But the true reason, as Pérez recognizes, is that the owners did not want any more of it for other motives. Indeed over 30 cases of cancers appeared among the 500 co-owners, although there was no medical report which certified that the phone masts were the cause.

"That has been difficult and we were lucky enough to be able to count on a major lawyer, because they tried by all possible means to counter us to win", Lola Pérez declared.
